Dear Mr. Lovett:

After previewing your DVD, "Going Blind," I am very impressed with the quality and in-depth analysis of a situation in which people like us find ourselves. I am also encouraged by knowing that many people in our low vision community are going to be better off as a result of your caring and hard work through this medium.

"Going Blind" covers every concern about losing vision, but it also offers important information and hope. And it does so effectively without resorting to maudlin emotion or pity. It reinforces the concept that knowledge is power, which can be attained only by marching straight forward into the future while continuing to appreciate the present.

The film has a lot to digest in one viewing, as it covers a good deal of ground from diagnosis through rehabilitation. I therefore recommend viewing it more than once and taking notes. It is not just a story, it is an education that must be put into practice by every affected person.

Thank you for this successful effort, and please let me know how I can help spread the word about this excellent documentary.

Best wishes,

Dan Roberts, Director
